A Note to Open water students waiting to do their Open Water Dives

We will be starting Open Water training dives on the weekend of May 21 and 22, 2011. We will schedule the dives every weekend until October 22 and 23, 2011. Please reserve as early as possible because the dives are subject to enrolment. This also helps us plan staffing and other logistical considerations. After April 10, 2011 you may reserve the equipment you will need for the Dives

Weekday Night Dives for 2011

Our Wet Wednesday program has changed to a Wet Weekday dive program. We have scheduled Dives on Tuesday Wednesday and Thursday to give folks more options to attend. This schedule of dives gives new divers a chance to get out and dive with people that have a little more experience. It's a good introduction to some of the more popular dive sites in the area. One of our Divemasters will give you an orientation to the site and buddy you up if you need someone to dive with. Hope to see you in the water meeting new people and having fun!!!

Thermoprene

7mm Jump-suits

Sale $275.00

Get the features and design benefits of more expensive suits in this economically priced jump-suit ideal for both local waters and exotic destinations. The Thermoprene Jump-suit's effectiveness is based on a contoured fit that helps keep water exchange to a minimum combined with a superior grade of neoprene for maximum heat retention. All seams are GBS-glued and blind stitched, which further prevents water seepage and extends suit life. Creature comforts include Lycra trimmed cuffs, a spine pad and an adjustable collar.
